

Thank you for being a QuickBooks Desktop Enterprise customer.

We have revised our terms and conditions to enable us to incorporate industry standard per employee fees and multi-company file fees in the future. There is no charge for per employee fees and multi-company file fees during your current active subscription period. If either of these fees change, we will notify you 30 days in advance. Please see FAQs for more information.

As part of your recent renewal, you acknowledge that you are the approval authority for this customer account. To avoid service interruption, please accept the new terms and conditions.

Thanks,
The QuickBooks Team

If you have more than one customer account number with QuickBooks Enterprise licenses, you may need to accept the new terms for each account number in your customer account management portal.
