To Whom It May Concern,

Quick Books Desktop support issue Case #547347941

1. This was my original question to help desk automated response cannot save files to PDF. I even ask the question a different way how to save files as PDF same window comes up.
2. Solution #1 was download Quick Books Tool Hub ran it 3 Times did not solve problem.
3. Contacted support chat they had me check all kinds of things which I checked even as far as trying to update my Adobe program which I gave them the version #20.006.20042 and they said it was the most current version but they said try updating anyway absolutely a waste of time. I tried anyway and of course Adobe responds I am already running most current version. Please read the chat log and listen to the voice recordings the 1st person I talked to hung up on me, called back and got Jackie Millana jm130603 finally she explained to me how to save to PDF
4. This is what should be listed as Solution One in your automated response also every Chat or Phone support person should tell the person calling in for support for any question like cannot save to PDF file, or how do you save a PDF file. The #1 Solution should be an explanation of how to save a file to PDF Not download your Quick Books Tool Hub or all the other stuff I was told to try.
5. Trouble shooting sequence on page #2

- Go to chart of accounts pick any account like checking, credit card, or almost any account.
- Highlight any account
- Select Reports from drop down list bottom of page, select quick report, select print button drop down list at top of page it will give you the option of either printing report or save to PDF from drop down list select Save To PDF.
- Name the file and save it to desktop or any destination file you wish.
- Go to the destination file and it will be there.

My problem with this is, the 1st three support people I talked to assumed I already knew what I listed above if I already knew I would not be contacting support. The first thing that should be listed in automated response to question is what I listed above that should be the first thing all your live support people should do also.

Summary of May 7/2020 Chat 9:44 to 10:56 Duration 1:12 Min Trixia Marie R.

- 9:52 Me: From file drop down list cannot save to PDF it is listed in drop down but not available.
- 9:54 You: Are you trying to save a payroll form?
- Me: It is just a register for credit card.
- 9:59 You: Is the PDF option also greyed out when trying to print other reports?
- Me: Yes.
- You: Ok, we are going to check if you will have the same problem on a sample file, close your company and open a sample company file.
- 10:06 Me: I have the same problem on three desktops but ok.
- 10:12 You: Just to clarify you want to save credit card register to PDF?
- Me: Yes.
- 10:12 to 10:33 You: Waiting for agent to get transcript of support chat last night.
- Me: I am in the sample company printer prints out register correctly.

At this point if I knew what I know now and certainly all support people should know is you cannot save an account register to PDF. You must go to reports and run a quick report, from that you can either print or save as PDF.

- 10:34 You: You cannot just save it as PDF. What is your PDF Provider? The answer here should have been you cannot save register to PDF you must run a quick report and then you can save as PDF from print dropdown list.

- 10:35 Me: I do not understand the question.
- 10:35 to 10:50 Me doing stuff agent told me to get information on ADOBE gave version running on my desktops she said it was the latest version.
- 10:50 You: Thank you for waiting, I am going to provide a link to ADOBE so you can update.
- Me: I thought you just said that was the latest version. Answered some more questions which were already answered.
- 10:56 You: In case we get disconnected I will give you case # as reference.

Summary of support 5/8/2020

Contacted chat support tried to resume chat from the email all that happens when I select that option is goes to site and your site says we are having trouble opening this page but it will be back soon. Signed in from your page took me to support but could not find an option to open previous chat.

Started a new chat entered my case # I was told in previous chat if I entered the case # the support person would have all the information I already supplied. The first question they asked me what the issue is and what did previous support already check. At that point I requested a call from support. In that request I explained the problem, provided Lic.#, Case# and specified please before you call me have all the chat transcripts so I do not have to repeat myself again.

This is what happened when support called me back he asked me what the issue was and what did previous support do, I asked him don't you have the question I asked in support request and the chat transcript he said he will get it. While he was getting it I was disconnected.

Called support back requested a call filled out all the questions again Jackie Millana called back after a few minutes she gave me the answer was you cannot save a register to PDF you must do it out of Quick Report. Why is that not the first question asked.

Even better when someone asks a question why can't I save a file as PDF your first answer should be you must be in quick report to save to PDF.

Warm regards,

13:00, May 11

13:00, May 11

You: no

13:00, May 11

13:01, May 11

Cherry Ann B: Do you happen to notice any changes in your computer or in quickbooks like an update/

13:01, May 11

13:03, May 11

You: it updates automatic am not having any problems with it or my other 2 desktops but same problem with all threedesktops

13:03, May 11

13:04, May 11

Cherry Ann B: What do you mean by automatic update is it in your windows or in quickbooks/

13:04, May 11

13:05, May 11

You: Both all programs have options for automatic updates how can you knot know this

13:05, May 11

13:06, May 11

Cherry Ann B: have you done any trouble shooting steps in your end?

13:06, May 11

13:08, May 11

You: did you get the chat log for all the other call pertaining to this case # We along with support have checked all kinds of things I asked in the begining if you had it and read it I assumed you did

13:08, May 11

13:10, May 11

Cherry Ann B: Yes I was able to see the previous case that you have however it is not indicated in there to what are the troubleshooting steps that you have done. I apologize.

13:10, May 11

13:11, May 11

You: I have done every thing suggested as my answer's indicate

13:11, May 11

13:14, May 11

Cherry Ann B: May I know what quickbooks version are we using?

13:14, May 11

13:15, May 11

You: again that is listed on chat I am looking at print out QB2020

13:15, May 11

13:17, May 11

Cherry Ann B: After reviewing your issue and your account, it looks like the problem we're working on today isn't included in our customer care policy. The type of software you have is the stand-alone version, meaning it's a do-it-yourself type rather than the kind that comes with a technical support subscription. No need to worry, though, I'm going to do my best to help resolve your concern. We have a couple of options: I can send you an article that will help us resolve the issue, or we can activate a QuickBooks Plus subscription for tech support assistance. Which one would you like to hear more about?

13:17, May 11

13:18, May 11

You: If you are going to send me Tool hub do not bother I have run that three times how do I print out this chat the widow is very small and hard to work in

13:18, May 11

13:19, May 11

Cherry Ann B: You have that option in the + sign in the chat box.

13:19, May 11

13:21, May 11

You: What would be the 1st 4 steps you would do to try to solve thia problem

13:21, May 11

13:24, May 11

Cherry Ann B: Solution 1: Run the QuickBooks Print & Print Repair Tool from the QuickBooks Tool Hub
Solution 2: Reset your temp folder permissions
Solution 3: Check to see if the reconcile window is off of the screen
Solution 4: Test, reinstall, and adjust permissions for XPS Document Writer (for users who use Windows but not Terminal Services)

13:24, May 11

13:25, May 11

You: do you have a # for support that I can call or do I have to choose get a call back instead of chat

13:25, May 11

13:28, May 11

Cherry Ann B: Unfortunately we no longer have a direct phone number for phone support however you can use our callback feature inside quickbooks Help>QuickbooksdesktopHelp>Type your question> on the lower part click on contact us

13:28, May 11

13:34, May 11

You: Here is the solution to this problem (1) Go to chart of accounts (2) Select any account go to reports select Quick Report (3) select save as PDF in drop down list at print button (4) Name file save to desktop or anywhere you want I cannot believe every tech I chatted with does not know this

13:34, May 11

13:36, May 11

Cherry Ann B: Did you see that in quickbooks desktop help?

13:36, May 11

13:40, May 11

You: No nothing like that is in there I went to the community and that response came back to me in about an hour. Apparent most of you tech do not have that information you are the 3rd or fourth one I chatted with thank you for you time.

You: yes

10:00, May 7

10:02, May 7

Trixia Marie R: Okay, we are going to check if you will have the same option on the sample file, close your company file and open a sample file please

10:02, May 7

10:06, May 7

You: I have this same proble on three desktops but ok

10:06, May 7

10:08, May 7

Trixia Marie R: Thank you

10:08, May 7

10:09, May 7

You: Tried opening a sample company says password incorrect for intuit account it is not

10:09, May 7

10:09, May 7

Trixia Marie R: you don't have to login to your intuit account to open a sample file, just skip it

10:09, May 7

10:10, May 7

You: ok thanks

10:10, May 7

10:11, May 7

You: still grey

10:11, May 7

10:12, May 7

Trixia Marie R: Okay, and just to clarify your concern, you want to save the Credit Card Register as PDF?

10:12, May 7

10:13, May 7

You: i want to save any file i choose to save as pdf by clicking on save as pdf

10:13, May 7

10:14, May 7

Trixia Marie R: So no just the CC register, you want all forms and reports to be save as PDF?

10:14, May 7

10:14, May 7

You: Of course

10:14, May 7

10:16, May 7

Trixia Marie R: Okay, so you mentioned that you already talked to one our Intuit Support last time, what are the troubleshooting steps done before you got disconnected?

10:16, May 7

10:18, May 7

You: I do not know I assumed there was a transcript of that conversation and you had it regardless checking did not go very far.

10:18, May 7

10:19, May 7

Trixia Marie R: Let me check, bear with me

10:19, May 7

10:19, May 7

Trixia Marie R: While Checking, please answer the following Questions. - how many company files are you working on? - how many employees do you have? - How convenient it is for you to be able to access your company files anywhere or working from home?

10:19, May 7

10:21, May 7

You: no problem I will be back in 5 min and I am not going to answer those questions have nothing to do with this problem

10:21, May 7

10:24, May 7

Trixia Marie R: I understand and thank you for waiting, as I check on the previous case here, it seems like the representative just asked you to check the printer setup in QB. Have you already check the printer settings from your control panel?

10:24, May 7

10:31, May 7

You: Printer is Epson WF-3640 set as default XPS writer is in device list I tried making that default no change also checked both devices are operating correctly as I stated when I run tool box it says XPS driver not available or cannot find.

10:31, May 7

10:33, May 7

You: I am in the sample company printer prints out register correctly.

10:33, May 7

10:34, May 7

Trixia Marie R: You can't just save it as PDF. What is your PDF provider?

10:34, May 7

10:35, May 7

You: I do not understand the question

10:35, May 7

10:36, May 7

Trixia Marie R: what is your PDF provider, is it ADOBE?

10:36, May 7

10:36, May 7

You: yes

10:36, May 7

10:36, May 7

Trixia Marie R: what

10:36, May 7

10:36, May 7

Trixia Marie R: What is the version of your ADOBE PDF reader?

10:36, May 7

10:37, May 7

You: I have no Idea

10:37, May 7

10:39, May 7

Trixia Marie R: you can check the version of you Adobe reader from the control panel and if you don't have the latest version, we need to update it to the latest version and run the PDF repair tool. And Is this your first time attempting to save a PDF file after upgrading to QB 2020?

10:39, May 7

10:40, May 7

You: yes adobe version 20.006.20042

10:40, May 7

10:41, May 7

Trixia Marie R: you need to have the "ADOBE Acrobat Reader DC", that is the latest version. And Is this your first time attempting to save a PDF file after upgrading to QB 2020?

10:41, May 7

10:42, May 7

You: yes

I can only imagine what you must be feeling right now, @Ron Boehly.

In these tough times, we want to provide you with some relief. As you may have been informed, the Community is a public forum. Because of this, we're unable to take a look at accounts and review the case documentations.

I've already reached out to our colleagues from the Technical Support Department and shared with them the links to this post. At the moment, they're already taking a look at this to asses what we can do with regards to your feedback. They'll be reaching out to you to via the account information that you've shared with us in this post.

Please keep your lines open. As always, reach out to us again.

Hello there, @Ron Boehly.

This isn't the service we want you to have when reaching our support team. When calling over the same issue, you can refer to the most recent case number so agents can see your prior history. This way, you will no longer explain your concern.

We can forward your PDF to our support teams so that their managers will be aware of the trouble you're getting assistance with.

You can always visit our help page for tips and relevant articles: QuickBooks Support.

Get back to us if you have anything else to add. We're 24/7 open to help you out. Keep healthy and safe.

Currently, we're unable to get a transcript of phone conversations. However, you can get a conversation record from our chat supports through email or take a screenshot off the conversation. Also, the case number will be beneficial to you when reaching back to our Care Support team, tracking previous cases.

You can also screenshot posting replies to review the conversation.

To clarify things over, yes, you're right, we're unable to save account register to PDF. You can run a quick report first before you can either print or save it as a PDF.

Please keep me posted or tag me (@JovyChris_A) if you need further assistance. I'll wait for your reply. Stay safe and healthy!

Other questions

I am sharing the info I sent LilyIntuit Admin. that I sent her 4 hours ago she responded by saying she would send to correct people. No calls back from support yet. Is it possible for you to get a transcript of these postings, chats and phone conversations. I am getting weary of saying the same thing over and over again.

Lily Good Day

Contacted agents in both chat and call back yesterday 5/11/2020 both said they do not have access to chat or phone transcripts only a supervisor can access that information, which I found odd since on a couple chats agents told me they were going to get it, I got the impression from you that you were going to forward info to the appropriate people who are they. I have attached (2) of the chat transcripts and my summery/review of customer support. At the end of my conversation with agent by phone yesterday he said he would have
